Listen to the extract from The Faraway Tree for inspiration to write your own description of a land at the top of the tree.

Remember to use all of your senses to help describe the land. What can be seen? What can be heard? Are there any strange smells?

What is the land called? Let your imagination run wild!

You may start any way you like or may choose to use my opening.

As they peered through the hole in the cloud, the children could hardly believe their eyes.
